President's Report

It is almost a mandatory opening statement from me these days to thank the members of ANSA NSW, the Clubs that make it all happen and the State Executive and Committee who bring it all together every year. This year was no different and a growing membership is a testament to all our hard work and a reward for all of us. Reading through the Annual Report will give you some insight into the jobs that are required to keep the ship on an even keel and then throw the "issues" into the mix and it becomes a very hectic 12 months of dealing with all this but once again we have come through unscathed and still maintaining a good relationship at all levels.

The most important thing that we as a Committee have to keep in mind is ensuring that the name and brand that is ANSA NSW is held in high regard within the Government and media and once again we can safely say that all the work we undertake on behalf of ANSA NSW members and by default the State's other anglers is being heard. Threats to fishing like the lack of science driving bag and size limits, mako, SBT and gemfish reviews and marine parks mean we need to be level headed when arguing our cases when it is just as easy to constantly attack and criticise. Well researched submissions, logical arguments and vigorous debates with all sides of politics has ensured ANSA NSW gets a front row seat at the table on the issues that matter to us as anglers and will hopefully mean we get satisfactory outcomes. It also means that when the science is right, we need to consider all the options on the tables.

Our flagship Fishing 4 Therapy, Mulloway Tagging and Angel Ring Projects have seen our stocks raise within the community due to our willingness to roll up our sleeves and get our hands dirty so to speak, something that I am extremely proud to be a part of and so should all ANSA NSW members.

The comprehensive outline that follows in John Burgess' report should give you all some insight into the issues we tackled over the year but should also motivate your Club to pick up the ball and take on some of these issues at your local level. Your local MPs are the best place to start and efforts to establish a good working relationship with them can open some really good avenues to have your local voices heard and add weight to the bigger debates that affect the way we fish in NSW.

Finally I just want to add my 2 cents into the flavour of the month which is  and how we should be using this great medium to communicate and keep things fresh and fluid. ANSA NSW use our page to post every relevant bit of news we think the membership should be aware of, my own club uses it to have instant updates on events and live fishing reports and as a means of keeping in touch over the course of the week (and also attract new members) but the big question is what does your club use it for.....let me know next time we meet or just PM me!

Vice President's Report

2013/14 was another busy year for ANSA at a State and National level. Listed below is a snapshot of some of the many issues concerning recreational fishing that ANSA has been actively involved with over the past year.

NSW Size and Bag Limit Review. ANSA participated in the review process and questioned the science and rationale for what essentially would have seen a halving of bag limits for most bread and butter recreational species with little or no justification. The jury is still out on the outcome of the review and it is understood that a final decision now rests with the NSW Primary Industries Minister Katrina Hodgkinson.

Mulloway. New size and bag limits were introduced late 2013. ANSA supported the case for an increase in the size limit from 45 to 70 centimetres for both the recreational and commercial sector and a recreational daily bag limit of 2 fish and this is what was adopted by the Minister. Regrettably the extent of restrictions placed on the Commercial sector did not go as far as ANSA would have liked and Estuary General fishers using meshing nets are still permitted a by catch possession allowance of 10 fish between 45 and 70 centimetres and there is a 500 kilogram limit for Ocean Haul endorsement holders. ANSA also encouraged an early reintroduction of Mulloway stocking to give nature a hand and an ongoing study of mulloway stocks. A dedicated Mulloway research programme was established and ANSA members have played an active part in providing data on captures and the submission of Mulloway frames. ANSA has also played an integral role via Newtag in tagging Mulloway across NSW.

NSW Commercial Fishing Reform. ANSA participated in the review process which involved key reforms for the State's five major commercial fisheries - the Ocean Trap and Line, Ocean Trawl, Ocean Haul, Estuary General and Estuary Prawn Trawl. While ANSA supports the case for key reform of the State's commercial fisheries to make them more efficient and viable and to provide a framework for substantial long term investment in the fishing industry, we were very concerned with the lack of public consultation and the very short time frame for making submissions on this critical review. ANSA's main concerns were the changes and sizes to vessels and the types of gear allowed and more specifically the proposals to increase the total allowable catch quotas (ITCAL's) to levels based on the highest past 15 years take. Also of grave concern was the proposal to open up many of our protected coastal estuaries to commercial fishing. Support for the reforms also met a mixed response from the commercial fishing sector with many small commercial fishers recognising that they would be forced out of the industry with adverse socio economic implications for coastal NSW communities. Minister Hodgkinson recently announced that more time was necessary to fully consider all issues and for further public consultation.

Southern Blue Fin Tuna. ANSA strongly opposed the proposals to introduce a NSW SBT recreational bag and possession limit of one fish and to impose a daily boat limit of two SBT. It was ANSA's position that the scientific evidence did not support the case for such draconian management measures. ANSA's recommendation was that a daily bag limit of 2 SBT was reasonable and that the introduction of a boat limit could not be justified and would have the potential to encourage up sizing and dumping of fish. It was also ANSA's recommendation that SBT be taken out of the generic Tuna bag and size limits and be established as a standalone species. It was encouraging that most other state and national recreational fishing peak bodies fell in behind the ANSA position. The concern was that if NSW was compelled to accept a one fish bag limit and a boat limit of 2 it would be only a matter of time before the other states would be under pressure to follow NSW. If the ANSA recommendations are adopted then all states where SBT are evident will have a common daily bag limit of 2 SBT per person

Gemfish. ANSA participated in the review by the NSW Fisheries Scientific Committee which proposed to list Gemfish as Vulnerable under the Fisheries management Act. If Gemfish do get listed as Vulnerable then recreational fisher interaction with the species will be illegal in NSW and adjacent Commonwealth waters. Gemfish are already subject to a modest 2 fish bag limit and a 10 fish boat limit. It was ANSA's position that scientific evidence presented did not justify a Vulnerable Species listing and a consequential total ban on the recreational take of Gemfish. The recreational take of Gemfish is not known but considered to be very minor and anecdotal evidence would seem to indicate that the species is in a positive recovery mode and certainly not under any short or medium term threat of extinction.

Hammerhead Sharks. ANSA engaged in consultations with the Commonwealth Threatened Species Committee for potential inclusion of Scalloped, Smooth and Great hammerhead Sharks as Threatened Species under the EPBC Act which would preclude any form of recreational fisher interaction with these species in Australian waters. While ANSA is concerned with the serious decline in Hammerhead species globally due to excessive and uncontrolled commercial fishing activities by many of our northern neighbours the extent of impact by Australian commercial and recreational fishers was very minor and the status of the local Hammerhead shark population was not under any immediate threat. ANSA did not support the case for listing of all 3 species of Hammerhead as Vulnerable but did concede a case existed for the species to be listed as Conservation Dependent and made subject to an agreed recovery plan. Under this status recreational fisher interaction with Hammerheads would be allowable. Unfortunately in NSW all recreational fisher interaction with Hammerhead sharks is illegal as these species were listed as Endangered/ Vulnerable by the NSW Fisheries Scientific Committee in 2012. An investigation of the circumstances which lead to the NSW listing of Hammerheads is currently in process and hopefully we may be able to review the 2012 listings.

Small Pelagic Fishery. While ANSA and other recreational fisher peak bodies and conservation groups were successful in putting a stop to the Margiris supertrawler fishing for small pelagic species such as Jack Mackerel and Redbait in our southern waters, the current restriction on the use of large commercial freezer trawler vessels for the SPF fishery lapsed in October 2014. An expert scientific panel was established by the previous Labor Government to make an objective assessment of the environmental impacts of large mid water trawl/freezer vessels operating in the small pelagic fishery. The expert committee is due to release its report and recommendations before October 2014. ANSA has met with the expert panel and presented its concerns with this scale of fishing operation. While it is unlikely that the Margiris will return to Australian waters there may be a case for other forms of large scale fishing activities to be undertaken in a manner which will minimise environmental impacts. We now await the panel report and the direction the Coalition takes on this very controversial issue.

Commonwealth Marine Reserves. Since the change of Federal government very little has happened in terms of the roll out of the network of Commonwealth Marine Reserves. The Coalition is still to announce appointments to Scientific and Management Advisory Committees for each of the Marine Reserves and what relaxations, if any, to commercial and recreational fishing activities that were to be restricted under the proposed Labor plans of management. Based on assurances given by the Coalition it is very likely that greater access for commercial and recreational fishing will be allowed in areas previously designated as no fish zones. It is hopeful that the government will make these announcements shortly. ANSA in conjunction with other peak bodies will continue to push the case for preservation of recreational fisher access to all Australian territorial waters.

NSW Marine Parks. One of the great achievements over 2013 and the outcome of the Independent Scientific Review of Marine Parks in NSW which ANSA participated in was the NSW government agreeing to an amnesty to allow line based recreational fishing from ocean beaches and headlands within most NSW declared Sanctuary zones. The government also announced the establishment of 2 new advisory panels, the Marine Estate Management Authority and the Marine Estate Expert Panel and a moratorium on any new marine parks pending advice from these panels. ANSA will continue to work closely with these 2 panels to ensure that the interests of recreational fishing and the marine environment are best managed.

Caltex. Unfortunately ANSA was unable to convince State and Federal Agencies to disallow Caltex to dredge its Kurnell Port and Berthing facilities and to dump highly toxic TBT (Tributyltin / anti foul) contaminated dredged spoil both in Botany Bay and in ocean waters about 10 km east of South Head. This dredging project has now been completed and it can only be hoped that no long term environmental damage or health risks have been incurred as a result of the spoil dumping. More recently Caltex, in March 2014, also experienced a major oil spill into Botany Bay from its Caltex plant which contaminated much of the northern shore of the Bay and may have drifted into Sydney Harbour as well as a result of strong southerly winds prevailing on the day and large tidal movements. ANSA has met with the EPA which is investigating the circumstances and extent and impact of the spill as a lead up to the likely prosecution of Caltex in the Land and Environment Court. ANSA has also taken its own samples for assessment of the type of oil involved and likely environmental impacts. It is ANSA's preference that any financial penalty imposed on Caltex be expended on fish habitat rehabilitation projects within Botany Bay and Sydney Harbour.

NSW Fish Habitat Partnership. This is a new body set up in 2014 for the purpose of working together to rebuild fish resources in NSW by restoring fish habitat and eco systems. The partnership is unique in its formation being made up of recreational, commercial and indigenous fishing organisations (including ANSA), the oyster industry, conservation groups and NGO's, the tackle trade, fishing cooperatives and farming groups. The partnership is the result of many years of hard work by a variety of individuals bent on doing something on a large scale to address the degradation of our aquatic habitat over the past 200 years as a consequence of misdirected land and water management practices. The partnership will be independent of government but will work collectively with all government agencies to identify strategic and specific ways to improve and restore fish habitat and to raise the profile of fish habitat conservation within the broad public arena and to enlist financial support from the private sector. The prospect of the partnership being used as an authorised body for the control and disbursement of financial penalties imposed by the Land and Environment Court for breaches such as the Caltex oil spill is under consideration.

Compensation Package. After more than a decade of wrangling with the NSW government to achieve a compensation package for the loss of fishing access and environmental damage to the Botany Bay Recreational Fishing Haven as a consequence of the Port Botany expansion and a number of other development projects directly affecting the Bay we were very pleased with the government's May 2014 announcement of a $5million Port Boating and Fishing Infrastructure program which will see 2 new artificial reefs installed south of Botany Heads at a cost of some $2.4 million, the installation of a fishing jetty adjacent to the Foreshore Road Boat ramp seawall at a cost of around $.5million and the provision of additional boating access to Botany Bay at a cost of $2.1million. This is a terrific outcome for Botany Bay recreational fishers and we are very grateful that the current NSW government finally acknowledged the merit of our case.

Regional Boating Plans. ANSA has participated in the current round of regional boating plan studies currently being undertaken by Transport for NSW and Roads and Maritime Services. The object of the regional planning projects is to undertake a state wide study of existing boating facilities and safety measures for each of the major waterways of NSW and to identify actions required to enhance boating experience by improving boating safety, boat storage and boat access to our waterways. To date the draft study for Botany Bay has been completed and very pleasingly all of the concerns raised by ANSA such as the need for more boat ramps servicing Botany Bay, inadequate boat ramp parking, poor boat ramp design, shortage of mooring sites, inadequate dinghy storage, the lack of public jetties and legalities with parking trailers on public roads have all been picked up in the draft plan. Hopefully we will see some demonstrable progress coming out of these plans.

Boat Trailer Parking. In late 2013 ANSA did raise concerns with Roads Minister Duncan Gaye and Primary Industries Minister Katrina Hodgkinson about the actions of some coastal councils in enforcing section 200 of the National Road Rules which restricts all vehicles over 7.5 metres in length from stopping on a road in a built up area for more than 1 hour – this effectively prohibits most trailer boats over 6 metres from parking on urban streets and roads, even in front of your own home. Transport for NSW did set up a Boat Trailer Working Group to look into the issues relating to trailer parking on public streets and roads. Transport for NSW and the Office of Local Government are now finalising a response to the recommendations made by the working group in its report. The objective is to strike a balance between the right to park a registered boat trailer legally on a residential street for reasonable periods of time and improving parking access in congested areas with limited parking. This will include making funding available to councils willing to work with the government to establish dedicated off street trailer parking / storage facilities. It is imperative that such parking / storage facilities, if and when they eventuate, are not priced beyond the means of ordinary boat owners.

Fishing Safety/Education. ANSA continues to take the lead on fishing safety issues both in NSW and Nationally. The Angel Ring project which has saved countless lives in NSW is being successfully rolled out in other states and our safe fishing education programme material remains in popular demand. On a different tack ANSA should be proud of the initiatives taken by the guys from South Sydney AFA (my own club) in pioneering the Fishing 4 Therapy programme which uses recreational fishing as a means for those within the community with a broad range of disabilities to engage in a sporting activity that would otherwise not be an option for them. These are both highly acclaimed and fantastic community/ volunteer programmes..

Peak Body Representation. ANSA has maintained a presence on NSW ACORF and the NSW Licence Trust Expenditure Committees and continues to be a driving force behind the NSW Recreational Fishing Alliance (RFA NSW) which is the widely recognised recreational fishing peak body in NSW. At a national level ANSA is a full member of Recfish Australia and the Australian Recreational Fishing Foundation (ARFF) which is continuing to emerge as the leading national peak recreational body with membership embracing industry bodies such as AFTA and the BIAA and most all of the established peak recreational bodies such as Recfish, GFAA, USFA , ANSA and the various state based recreational peak bodies. Via these bodies we are in constant engagement with the Federal Government and the various Commonwealth agencies on all matters that have a nexus with recreational fishing.

Recreational Fishing Council. One of the goals of ARFF and its members is to establish a National Recreational Fishing Council. The Federal Government has given a commitment to resource the Council and it is intended that ARFF will provide a Secretariat service to the Council which will be the focal point for 2 way dialogue between the Australian Government and recreational fishers and will replace the now redundant Recreational Fishing Roundtable.

Thank you. ANSA could not undertake all of these activities if it were not for the very small team of dedicated volunteers at a Branch and National level who generously give up so much of their time to make it all happen.

Secretary's Report

Another eventful year has past and the committees' commitment has once again been put to the test. Needless to say, the committee passed with flying colours.

Once again, ANSA was called to stand up, defend and curtail various issues to ensure that our members' rights and those of every recreational angler in NSW and throughout the country were upheld and protected. Our membership can be assured that ANSA has been well represented at both a State and Federal level.

The committee has worked hard to ensure that membership renewals were processed. This was a big challenge for our caretaker membership officer, Mike Spitzer, who basically was thrown into the deep end, but he did a magnificent job. A big thanks to you Mike and the other committee members who helped get us back on track. We hope to have a new membership officer voted in at the elections this year.

The committee ensured that all the latest updates for the ANSA NSW 12 Month Competition, ANSA Convention Circuit and Records were distributed as regularly as possible. This is a massive job and a big thanks has to go to our outgoing recorder, Shane Jasprizza. Thanks for your commitment throughout all the years you have served on the ANSA NSW Committee. Once again, we hope to have a new recorder voted in at the elections this year.

To the remaining committee and other volunteers, THANK YOU! Your commitment is very much appreciated and I look forward to working with you all once again.

Promotional Material

As you must all be aware, ANSA promotes itself through what it does and stands for, but if you are looking to promote ANSA through your clubs or at conventions or your local community, do not forget that ANSA has a NEW promotional brochure available for FREE and there is always ANSA ware that can be purchased. If you need any more information on promotional gear, please get in contact with me and I will guide you through the process.

Tightlines Bulletins

The Tightlines bulletin is still in circulation, with several bulletins distributed throughout the year, the latest one being July 2014. We expect the next bulletin to be issued not long after this year's delegates meeting, annual general meeting and the presentation night.

Committee Meetings

The Committee meets quarterly during the fishing calendar year with its most recent meeting being August 2014. Don't forget clubs are more than welcome to attend committee meetings as they see fit. It probably would not be a bad idea to come and see how things are run at a State level. It can be very rewarding and many hands make light work. We are always looking for new enthusiastic club members to join the committee and help run ANSA NSW.

The Email Database

The ANSA NSW email database currently hosts all ANSA NSW affiliated Clubs. Most of the Clubs on the database have minimum one contact. In total, the database hosts more than 100 points of contact, which includes Sportfishing NSW members. As in previous years, the electronic mailing system has really helped ANSA NSW operate more efficiently, economically and has aided their capability for distributing up to date information quickly. Hundreds, if not thousands of emails are distributed to all our member clubs each year. If you are not receiving electronic information from ANSA NSW please let me know and I will most definitely add you as a contact to the database.

Concerns are still with the clubs channelling information onto their own members from ANSA NSW, but there is more and more evidence that it is happening. Some of the larger Clubs are passing on the information ANSA NSW sends out as they see necessary, but there are concerns with many of the other affiliated smaller clubs, especially those that do not put out a newsletter. Hence, what we would like to suggest, especially for the smaller clubs is that you give ANSA NSW as many email contacts as possible for your club members. Do not forget, ANSA NSW has an email protocol and your addresses will be used for distribution of ANSA NSW information only.

The Website.

The ANSA NSW website is the central information hub for all ANSA NSW members. It is a vital tool for distributing information, so make sure you visit at least once a month for any new updates. Not all information is distributed direct via email.

The ANSA NSW website has been maintained regularly through the past 2013/2014 year and is currently up to date. Anything you would need to know about how ANSA NSW operates, how to start a club, how to join ANSA, competition updates, and record updates etc is on our website. We even have a photo gallery with some great photos of fish our members catch.

Facebook.

The ANSA NSW Facebook page has really taken off. Since its creation last year, more and more people are following ANSA NSW through Facebook. It is fast becoming the most popular form of electronic media for ANSA NSW members and the general public. So if you haven't, do it right NOW!! Log on and like ANSA NSW on Facebook.

The ANSA NSW Committee is always here to service our membership efficiently and effectively, so please do not be afraid to approach the committee about anything.

Enjoy your year and stay safe,

Treasurer's Report

Presented on the following pages is the Financial Report for the Year of 2013 – 2014 as well as the budget for 2014 – 2015.

This year we finished with a surplus of $36,204.88, primarily due to the Grants for Angel Rings and Fishing 4 Therapy, as they were able to pay back funds borrowed to keep them afloat while waiting for promised grants to arrive. This left us with end of year funds on hand of $ 19,376.94 (main account) and $ 27,383.63 (project account).

In total, the combined projects have now reimbursed the main account $26,850.38 which represents the full amount borrowed.

Our main account figures show higher than normal costs against the budgeted amounts for every day costs, such as general sundries, stationary, phone and meetings, but these were due to covering costs incurred by the Angel Rings projects. This is best seen on the Budget sheets. These are part of the costs that have since been reimbursed.

This year the Angel Ring project received total grants of $ 67,675.92, while Fishing 4 Therapy received $ 18,500.00 and an additional $ 3000.00 still to come at the end of the current project.

We also had higher than budgeted costs with the website due to a software glitch that had to be referred back to the company that wrote that software. We also had an increase in our Insurances.

The other figures that look out of proportion are the membership fees. This was due to an issue with the separation of Club versus Member Affiliation amounts being paid, even though the full combined amounts are correct. This has now been sorted for the new financial year and a more realistic break up will be shown.

As Treasurer I would like to thank the other Committee members for their ongoing support and help throughout the year and I look forward to what I hope is going to be a growth in membership and member involvement for 2014 - 2015.

Recorder's Report

This will be my last report on the ANSA Committee, as I've decided to take a break from the admin side of fishing and hopefully actually go fishing a bit more myself.

I want to extend a special thanks to Joe and Stan and the other ANSA NSW Committee members for the great job they do keeping ANSA NSW running. Without this small group of dedicated people, there would be no ANSA; members should be grateful and thankful for the tireless work they do, unpaid, in their own time, for you the members.

I hope everyone had a good year in 2013-14. Entries were down a bit in the 12-month comp but attendance at Conventions was up slightly. I'm not sure why, but let's hope it picks up again this year.

State Records

Seven (7) new NSW Length Records were achieved in 2013-14, compared to 13 last year. These comprised 4 senior and 3 junior Records. Highlights included a massive 66cm Golden Perch and an 85cm Snapper.

Line class entries were on par with last year, with 35 new Records, compared to 34 in 2012-13. Nowra Sportfishing Club lead the way with 10 entries, followed by St George with 8 and South Sydney with 7. Juniors set 12 of the Records, with 1 sub-junior Record also. Tuna featured prominently, with anglers getting amongst the good run of Southern Bluefin (5 Records), Stripeys (4) and Yellowfin (3). Whaler Sharks and Carp were also popular, with 4 Records each.

12 Month Competition

Entries in the 12-Month comp were down again this year, with 157, compared to 186 entries for 2012-13. Only 49 anglers submitted entries, compared to 69 anglers last year.

Entries came from 12 different clubs, with the most being from Wollongong (56), followed by St George (29), Nowra (20) and Newcastle (13). This represents only about a third of our total clubs, so I'm not sure why the other two-thirds aren't participating – something for the new Committee to look at I think.

Bluewater proved the most productive again, with the top 3 species being Dolphin Fish (22 entries), Albacore (18) and Striped Tuna (12). Best represented freshwater species was Brown Trout with 9 entries.

Tagging once again topped the entry count with 54 entries, followed by Sportfishing-Boat (Outside) with 12 entries and Land-Based Gamefishing with 10.

First, second and third places were awarded in all but a handful of divisions, which is a pleasing result. We just need to work out how to get the other clubs competing.

Congratulations to all the place-getters in the 12-Month comp and congratulations once again to Wollongong, our champion club for 2013-14. It wasn't even close!

ANSA Convention Circuit (ACC)

A total of 472 ANSA members attended Conventions this year, up slightly from 464 in 2012-13, however total number of attendances was slightly down. The number of anglers attending each convention was as follows (ANSA members only):

Convention	Attendees 2013-14	Attendees 2012-13
Glenbawn	89	96
Talbingo	23	32
Burrinjuck	126	124
Nowra	86	115
Narooma	89	77
Sydney	177	171
Lake Lyell	70	98
Total (ANSA) Attendance	660	713

Attendees were from 24 different clubs this year, which is a great result. South Sydney had 105 members attend Conventions, Botany Bay 64, Narooma 55 and Sea Bees 46. I only made it to 3 Conventions myself this year, something I hope to improve on in 2014-15.

Once again, congratulations to all the winners and new State Record holders for the year. See you on the water in 2014-15.

Good fishing and don't forget to fill in your capture forms!!!

Shane Jasprizza

Angel Ring Coordinator's Report

This year marks 20 years since that first ring was installed and over 12 years since I took this job on and still I get a great sense of satisfaction being part of a project that saves lives, raises rock fishing safety awareness and allows a whole bunch of likeminded anglers to give back to the community.

With close to 130 rings installed and 58 confirmed lives saved to date, it takes a lot of hard work to keep on top of things and with that in mind I would like to take the chance to thank all those who help ANSA NSW manage the project, including our members, other anglers and also the community who keep an eye on installations. A huge thanks to the National Park Rangers out there who also take the lead role in helping us manage the rings on their turf.

Below is a snapshot of the past 12 months. This is how I keep a track of things, including rescues and rings in the community. As you can see, it takes a lot of work to keep on top of things.

We managed to keep 7 people afloat this year until help arrived and that was made up of 2 anglers (Mermaids August 2013, Charlottes April 14) and saved 3 swimmers on 3 separate occasions at Red Rock in Jan 2014. We then saved a lady who was washed in at Wybung Head in April 2014. What is sad about the last incident is that this was the night that 2 of her male companions drowned trying to rescue her. She survived and was washed back out with the Angel Ring. Her heroic friends who jumped in to help her did not make it. We have always maintained that even though we install them for fishers they are an important form of PRE or Public Rescue Equipment.

It is both rewarding to keep the project running and saving lives. It is disheartening to see anglers and coastal rock platform users losing their lives, but we will keep spreading the word and getting our hands dirty rolling out new rings and replacing missing rings.

Special Projects Officer's Report

This year has been another great year for growth with the programme. We have been working our way through the Trust Funding, with the grant almost at an end. We are about to prepare our final report and claim the final $3000 of grant monies.

The funding has provided us with the ability to run additional sessions. This allowed us to accommodate the multitude of requests we get on a regular basis. It has enabled us to add a new group who work with ABI (acquired brain injury) for the inner west. They are a sister branch to the group we already work with in the Eastern Suburbs.

We continue to work with Centennial Park and have also brought on line a second venue, being Sydney Olympic Park in Homebush. This will allow for additional groups in the West to join in and give us an easy coverage from the Blue Mountains to the Coast.

Our team have also developed some new specialist equipment to aid the disabled attending. We have our standard belt outfit and have now introduced a modified wheelchair attachment that holds the rod and allows for one hand operation. Also, we have a multi adaptive seat holder that fits any chair or stool and again allows for one handed operation. These are all matched to custom altered or purpose made rods. We are looking to start a small production of these fittings, which we will make available to our regular attendees as needed. Also, we continue to make other specialist gear as needed for everyone's individual needs.

2014 / 2015 will continue to be a growth year for the team as we try to increase the presence of our public face and make others more aware of ANSA NSW being the leader in Australian Disability Fishing.

Thanks to the small team of very dedicated and well intentioned members we have, who not only help at their sessions but are building long term relations with the attendees, also a very important part of the therapy.

Tony Steiner
Special Projects Officer
ANSA NSW.

Environmental Officer's Report

Whilst Craig Wilson undertakes a huge sea change by moving to Darwin, he is willing to stay on and give the ANSA NSW Committee hand, albeit remotely, so for that we are all thankful as his knowledge and experience in this field allows ANSA NSW to gain a better insight into this complex portfolio and allows Craig to engage and deal with the issues we are faced with in NSW.

The tyranny of distance is not the hindrance it once was with communication lines open 24/7 via email that allows us all to communicate and plan effective strategies. To this effect, Craig has kept his hand in and whilst he chases barra and queenies I have taken the time to convey my sentiments around the scenarios we can engage in at a club level.

One thing that seems to be lacking within ANSA NSW is getting our hands really dirty at a club level, by getting involved with things such as environmental monitoring and rehabilitation. I often see many of our freshwater associates working on fish ladders, river bank restoration and clean ups. I see a huge opportunity for us to take the lead in the salt water scene environmental and also participate in the fresh water scene. These projects attract a huge amount of recognition. By having your club participate, especially if it is part of a local plan not only makes a difference, but can boost your clubs profile and attracts positive feedback from local residents and community departments. What anglers need to do is engage and keep engaging and publicising their environmental practices. These are easy wins and there are avenues for small amounts of funding to help your club get these things off the ground. Have a think about it. ANSA NSW is always open to ideas and to guiding your club in the right direction.

One of my concerns is the call for a Marine Park in Sydney Harbour. It has so many exclusion zones and dietary advice for eating fish west of the Harbour Bridge, which it's almost comical to constantly hear the conservationists calling for a marine park. We hear it every month. To this effect, our local anglers are getting mobilised and are mapping all the exclusion zones in the Harbour. Taking this into effect with the dietary advice, we will hopefully see this argument shut down due to the fact that we believe 50% of the Harbour is already protected by exclusion zones and another 30 % is under a cloud due to dietary advice. The argument being, that we are already severely limited in where we can fish. This is really simple stuff, but a good argument against the need for us to protect the environment further from recreational fishing.

Another example is the recent oil spill in Botany Bay, where my local club led the charge in gathering the facts and forcing the EPA to issue clean up orders against Caltex. It was a matter of being on the spot and recording and sampling the spill and forcing the big corporations into a corner with nothing more than a camera and a few test tubes. Spills and fish kills are easy wins and need to be driven by anglers and ANSA NSW Clubs. ANSA NSW is always there to help, so keep your eyes open and ears close to the ground on matters that affect the environment, access and habitat issues in your area and get involved.

The other thing to keep in mind is that the Fish Habitat Network is up and running. ANSA is playing a pivotal role in this project, so if you have any local concerns and / or rehabilitation work you want advice or support on, just contact ANSA NSW.

Roy Winter Memorial Trophy

Excellence in Rock Fishing

The inception of the Roy Winter Memorial Trophy occurred during the mid 1970's when Mr and Mrs Winter presented the Perpetual Trophy to ANSA in memory of their son Roy who passed away in his early 20's before he could achieve his fishing goals.

The trophy is not awarded as a matter of course each year but rather only when, if in the Committee's opinion, a significant capture has been made from the rocks during the competition year. Entries are not called for with the winners name usually obtained from examining all rock captures made from the 12 Month Competition.
